To MR. G. E. GILLILAND this, the 1955 HATTER, is dedicated

Stetson's director of Alumni Affairs, Mr. G. E. "Eddie" Gilliland, has one of the hardest jobs the University has to offer; that of maintaining up-to-date records of Stetson's graduates, and to keep in contact with all of these alumni so that they will not lose contact or interest in Stetson.

Filling the position of Alumni Affairs Director only two years ago, Mr. Gilliland has made unbelievable progress with the University alumni relations.

As an overall program, Mr. Gilliland has shifted the emphasis on the alumni from the big to the little man, showing equal interest in every graduate, not just those who have found an eminent niche in society. Through this plan, the average alumni is made a part of the Stetson organization, as a participant and a contributor.

Through concentrated efforts, "lost" alumni, whose whereabouts have become unknown, have been re-located, and made an active part of the alumni organization.

Homecoming 1954 was Stetson's most successful by far, because of the excellent job of publicity and advance work done by the Alumni office. Through the work of the Alumni office, class reunions have attracted more interest and, consequently larger attendance, including bringing back this year the famous undefeated 1927 football team.

Through his efforts, alumni records are now more complete and contain more information than at any time in the history of Stetson's alumni relations.

Through his great love for Stetson, Mr. Gilliland has influenced many people to contribute to the support and growth of the University through the United Stetson Alumni, and the Proxy Endowment Fund.

For these invaluable contributions to Stetson University through his many efforts and accomplishments as Director of Alumni Affairs at Stetson University, we gratefully dedicate this, the 1955 HATTER to Mr. G. E. "Eddie" Gilliland.

UNIVERSITY

Growth has been the keynote at Stetson for the past year, as curriculum and campus expanded to form an even bigger and better Stetson.

Campus growth bounded forward with the newly opened men's dorms and the women's dorms scheduled to be finished by next fall, the library, science building, fine arts building and a new student union building, the last necessitated by the burning of the old commons, are now in the planning stage.

The Student Government Association, taking its rightful place as the governing body of the Stetson students, has in the course of the year, sponsored Homecoming, Hatter Howler, picnics, the Green Feather Community Chest Drive, and elections. Regular Friday meetings with programs directed for the students by students, and work on campus-wide projects welded the student body into even closer union. Student committees got together and did something about such things as the parking problem, improvement of the grounds, and the much-needed Student Union Building.

The Women's Student Government Association, an old organization on campus, continued its influential work of supervising all women's activities, hours, and disciplinary problems when they arose. The newly re-organized Men's Council took the corresponding responsibility for men's actions.

The Municipal Stadium, home ground of the Stetson Hatters, is shown in an unusual wide angle panoramic view during the last quarter of the Homecoming football game. The Stadium is familiar to both student and alumnus alike as it plays a major part in the social life of the campus.

'ALL RIGHT NOW GIRLS, 1-2-3-4!' A familiar cry from the Cummings Gym which houses the women's recreational and physical education facilities, and is the headquarters for the intramural and activities programs for women.

WHERE THE ELITE MEET to do almost anything, in particular, get the morning mail, eat, talk, and coffee. The Soda Shop is a must on everyone's daily itinerary whether he needs to drop in or not.

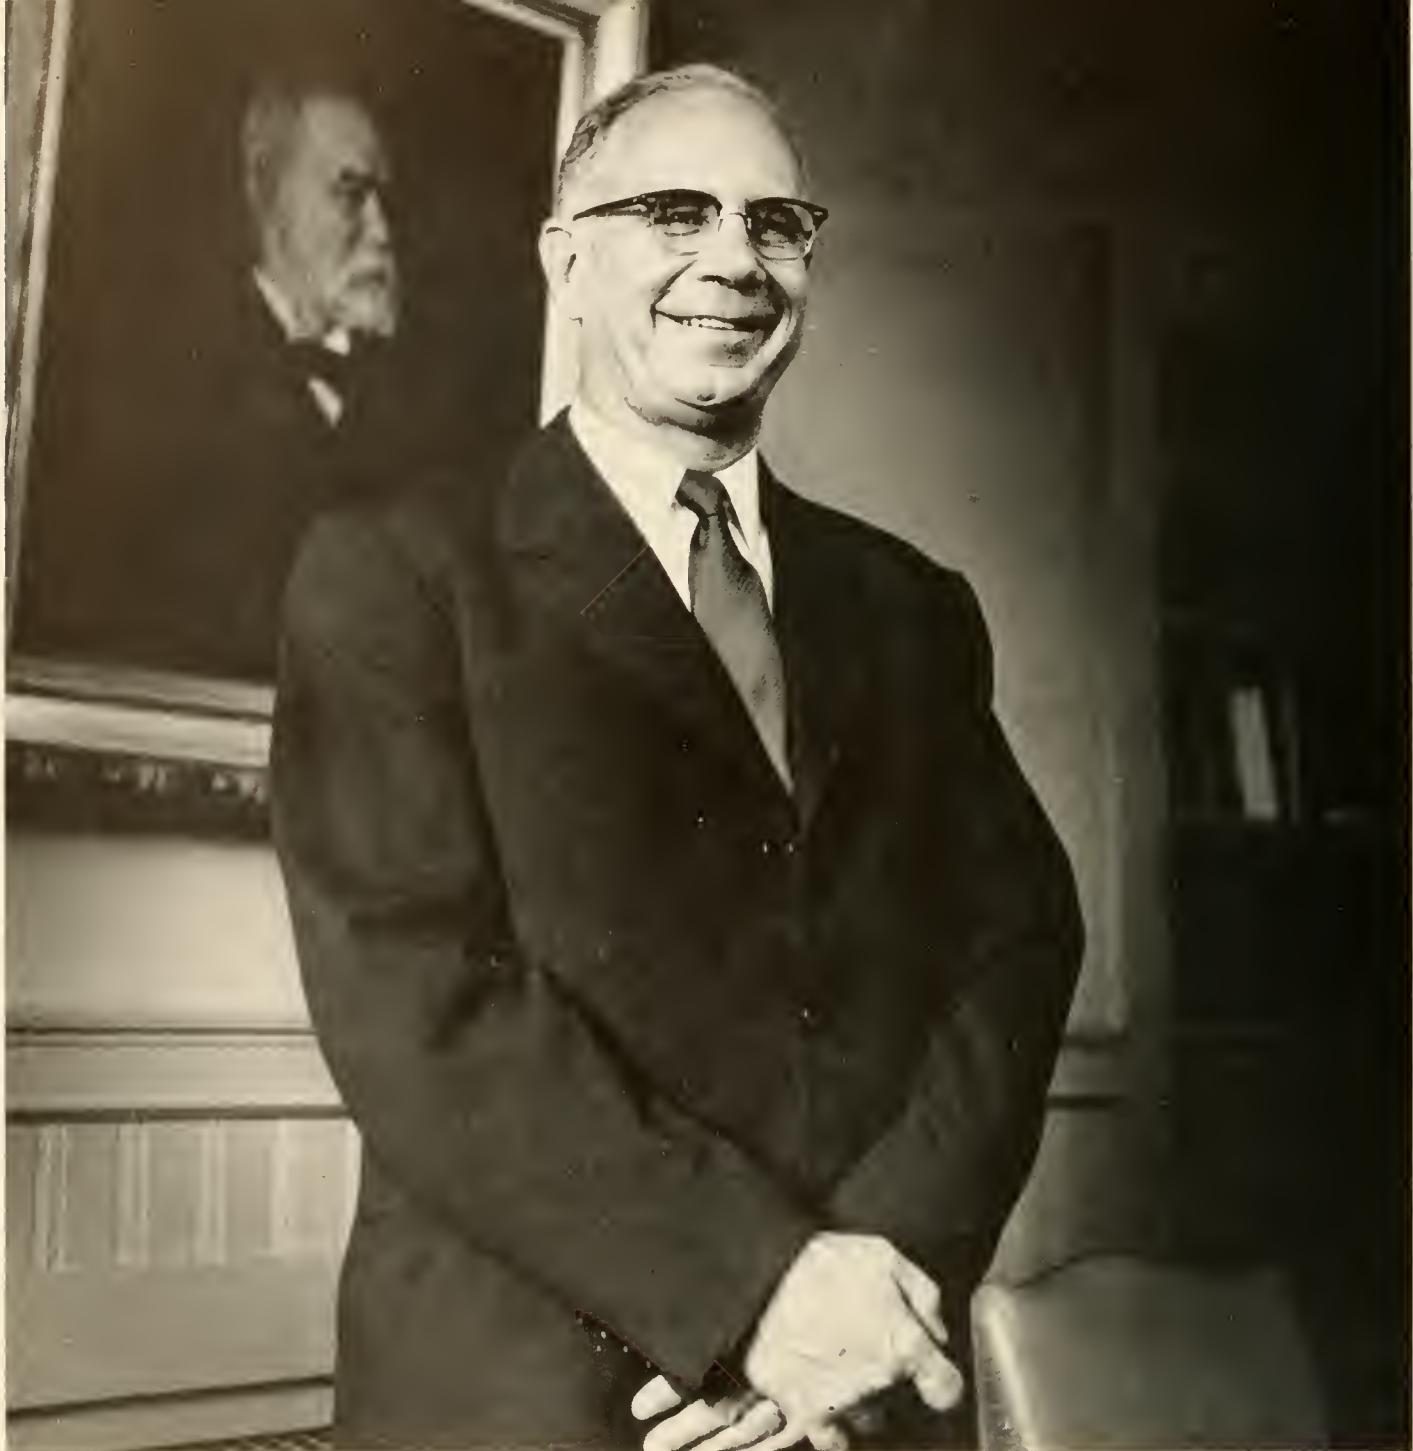

HOUSING the five national sororities on campus, the Pan-Hellenic Building offers a place for chapter meetings and social functions.

SAMPSON LIBRARY, with its "Education is Power" epitomizing its purpose, is the intellectual center of the campus as students come to do general studying, or research for a detailed paper among the many volumes housed here.

FUTURE ACCOUNTANTS, CPA's, and business tycoons, are trained in the many aspects of the business world in the Business Building, which though less imposing than the other edifices, is an integral part of the campus.

‘He That Planteth A Tree’

A long, long time ago, Henry Van Dyke wrote:
*“He that planteth a tree is a servant of God,
He provideth a kindness for many generations,
And faces that he hath not seen shall bless him.”*

Very few of us have seen the faces of Henry DeLond, “Uncle Chod” Chaudoin, Charlie Sampson, John B. Stetson, or Henry Flagler—yet we bless their memory daily as we pass the buildings which bear their names.

These were the men who gave roots to Stetson University. They planted the seed. They watered the plant. But in the years which have passed since the establishment of the college, there have been other “founders”—men and women of faith and visions who have strengthened the foundations which the first “Founders” laid down.

Generations of Stetson Students yet unborn may never see the face of Jessie Ball duPont, Charles E. Merrill, or Charles A. Dana. But they will bless their memory—as they do scores of other “Servants of God” who are showing faith and vision by planting trees whose shade they themselves will never enjoy.

And so, as I send greetings from the 1955 Stetson Family to our friends around the world and express deep appreciation for sincere student attitudes, consecrated faculty devotions, enthusiastic alumni loyalties, and warm-hearted public support, I bestow laurels upon the men and women who month by month are still making it possible for this COMMUNITY OF CHRISTIAN SCHOLARS to live.

They too, are planting trees.

“And faces that they have not seen shall bless them.”

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION, l.-r.: George Singletary, Treasurer, Sue Reynolds, Secretary, Ted Cassidy, Social Vice-President, Joe McLain, President, Shirley Lowe, Vice-President.

S.G.A. Leads Student Body Through Active Year . . .

S.G.A. PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Fellow Students:

As we look back on the past year we can remember the hard work and good times not only with nostalgia but with a feeling of accomplishment.

During the year, the Student Government Association, which is the representative body of you, the students, has taken many forward steps in various campus activities, both academic and social, and has successfully carried out its program for and with the students. None of these accomplishments could have been possible without the complete co-operation and support of the entire student body.

It has been both an honor and a pleasure serving and working with you in these functions as your S.G.A. President.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
JOE McLAIN

ACTIVITIES

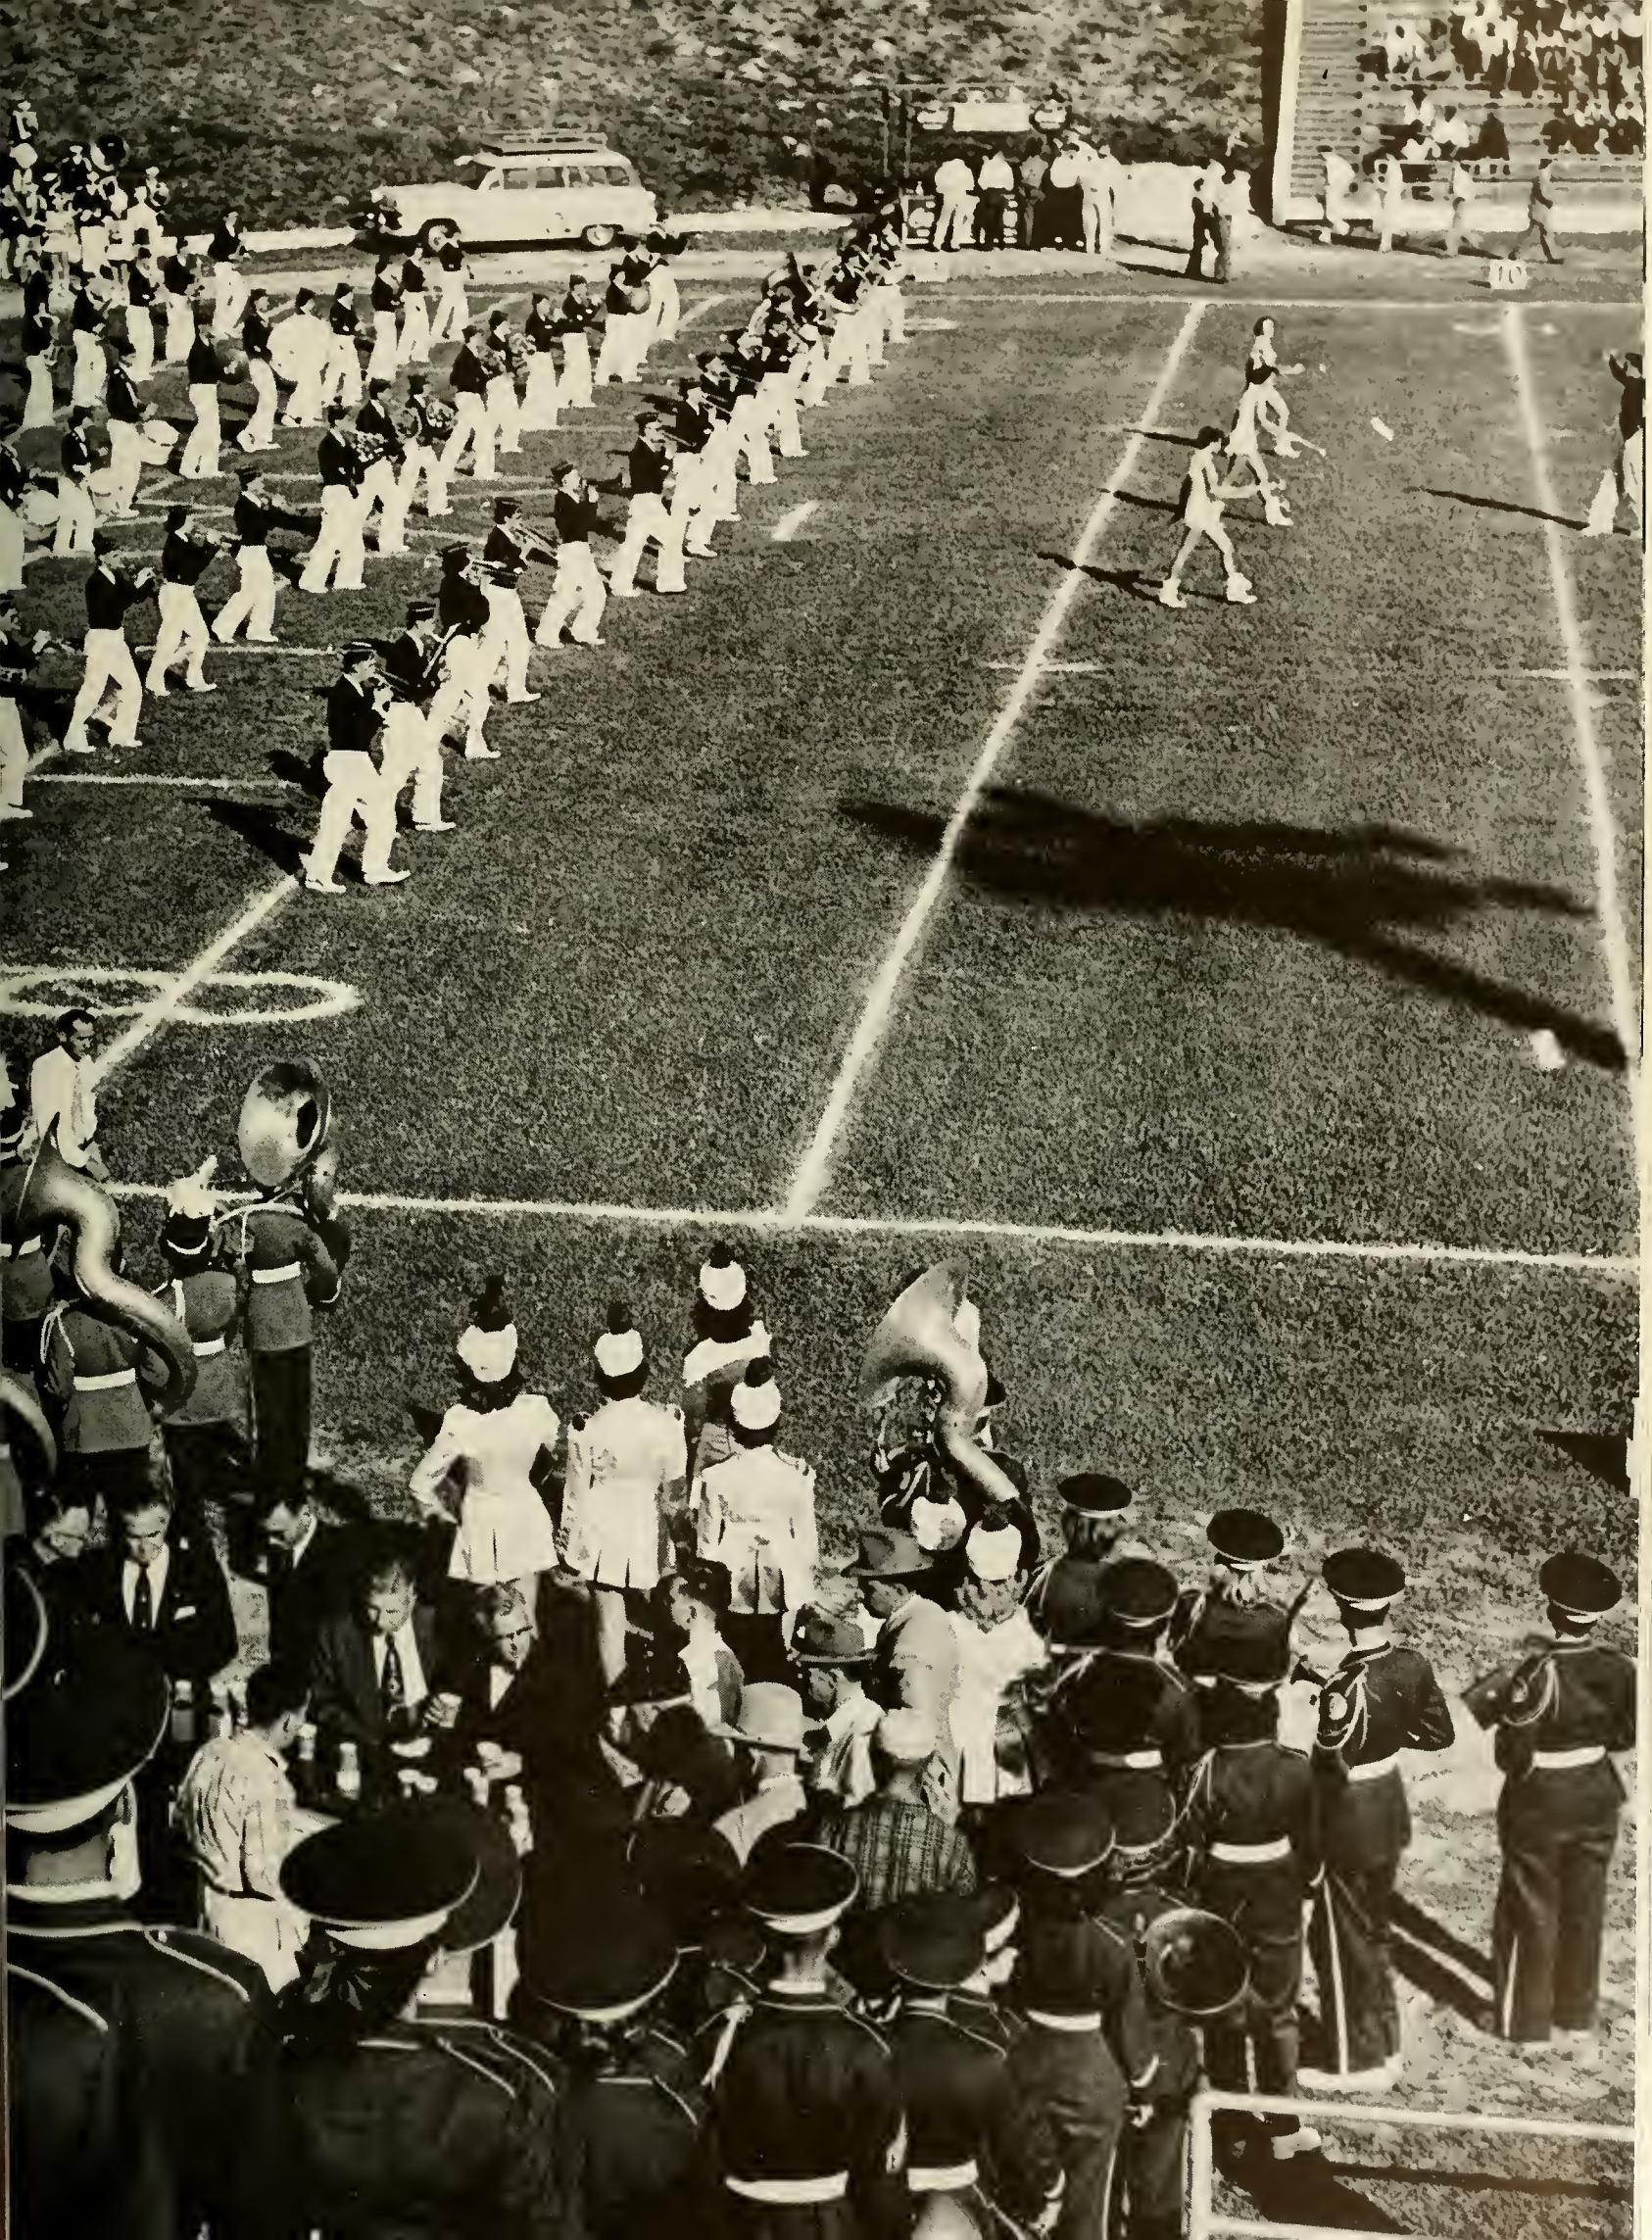

Going to class isn't all there is to college. Many hours are spent engaged in extra-curricular activities. Some of these activities are educational as well as entertaining, but many are held for the express purpose of being sociable and having fun.

ROTC allows the boys to dress in Regular Army uniforms, salute their classmates, march, clean rifles and practice the other basic essentials every soldier will have to know.

The Stetson Reparter, Florida's oldest college newspaper, is put to bed early every Friday morning as sleepy students insert corrections frantically so they can catch some sleep before eight o'clock rolls around. The Hatter, also housed in the deep dungeons of the Science Building, was born in the wee hours as the staff battled layouts, pictures, cutlines, and deadlines.

Homecoming was bigger and better than ever this year. Starting with the play, "The Women Have Their Way," the rapidly paced program whisked students and alums through Hatter Hawler, the fabulous parade, the Bar-B-Que in the Forest of Arden, the game itself, with the innovation of the card section, the open houses, and finally, Dean Hudson's Serenade at the Air Base.

SPIRITED HOMECOMING

Hatters Roaring '54

THE HATTER MARCHING BAND . . . leading the gala homecoming parade down the center of town, highlighted "Hatters Roaring in '54."

SGA PRESIDENT JOE McCLAIN presents the gifts and flowers to Stetson's Homecoming royalty Hostess Betty Jean Henderson, and Mayor John Howell.

Homecoming was great this year. Festivities began with the opening of the curtain at Stover Theatre of "The Women Have Their Way" on Thursday night.

Led by the ROTC color guard, the Homecoming parade of bands, floats and visiting dignitaries combined to form a material dramatization of "Hatters roaring in '54."

Awaiting many of the returning alums were the 1904, '29, '39, and '49 class reunions. Food, fun and some flies were enjoyed by students and alumni alike as boxes of chicken were consumed at the Barbecue held in the Forest of Arden.

Between halves of the Homecoming football game with Wofford, the original members of the 1927 unbeaten football team were introduced and then trophies awarded to Phi Mu for first place in floats with Lambda Chi Alpha taking second place and Pi Beta Phi and Delta Sigma Phi sharing the third position. First place in the skits went to Pi Kappa Phi with Alpha Xi Delta capturing second place and Delta Delta Delta, third. Pi Kappa Alpha won first place in house decorations with Pi Kappa

"... as the Hatters battled the Terriers, there is a handkerchief thrown on the play . . ." Buddy Simpson narrates the Pi Kaps winning skit for the homecoming competition.

Phi and Delta Sigma Phi second and third places respectively.

Providing a finishing highlight to the 1954 festivities was the formal Serenade held at the Airport Arena with the music furnished by Dean Hudson.

A LARGE PORTION of the student body turned out to view the many beautiful floats and the nine marching bands in the 1954 Homecoming parade.

PHI MU'S 1890'S VINTAGE pleasure steamer rolls down the boulevard, sufficiently impressing the judges, that they captured the first place trophy.

"ROCKETS ROAR" and with a float full of pretty Stetsan Co-eds, Lambda Chi Alpha took second place in the float competition.

WOFFORD TERRIERS being put into the doghouse was good enough to win first place for Pi Kappa Alpha in house decorations.

FROM MARILYN TO MUD HOLE . . .

Hatter Holiday Best Ever

Hatter Holiday, though every year proclaimed the best ever, in 1954 lived up to the 'best ever' boast, and was a great success. From the delicious chicken barbecue in the morning to the IFC serenade, all concerned had a wonderful if not noisy time.

Beautiful Miss Marilyn Layton was chosen as Miss Stetson, and as Mr. Stetson was blond and handsome John Imgrund, both sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi fraternity.

A wonderfully revolting job of make-up turned Delta Sigma Phi's Ted Revak into a very aptly named "Mr. Ugly." In the field events of the afternoon the competition was close, and spirit high as the girls of Alpha Xi Delta managed to have 1/2 a point more than Alpha Dxioma to win first, and running a very close third was Zeta Tau Alpha.

In the Men's competition the close race for first place was between Sigma Nu and Pi Kappa Phi, with the Snakes outpulling the Pi Kaps to rack up the deciding points. The Ministerial Association won third place trophy.

Rounding the evening off was a serenade sponsored by the Interfraternity Council and inviting all to come "just as you are, informal but fun!"

"... AND THEY'RE ROUNDING THE FAR TURN!" Contestants in

SOME VOCAL ENTERTAINMENT during pause in the Miss Stetson contest.

NO HANDS, NO NOTHING! Just your own mouths, so the contestants dig in with a will for the pie-eating contest.

HEAVE HO, or there's a dunking awaiting the loser in the tug-o-war contest.

the woman's foot race scamper for the finish line.

WATCH IT!! Those eggs are loaded, as many found out, being forced to leave the field of battle dripping with the results of a bad catch.

MR. UGLY—this gore dripping monster is in reality Ted Revak, sponsored by Delta Sigma Phi. Ted was the winning deformity of the day.

Many hours of planning and hard work have gone into the 1955 HATTER to make it a chronicle of your 1954-55 year at Stetson University. We have tried to make this an accurate and complete record of every phase of student life throughout the past year.

A vote of thanks is due each organization and individual who, by their cooperation, have helped to make possible the publication of this, the 1955 HATTER.

THE STETSON REPORTER

EDITORIAL

If we were asked to designate an applicable headline best recounting the 1954-55 school year at Stetson, we would be confronted with a maze of spectacular events to consider. However, the finished product might read: "1955; STETSON'S HEADLINE YEAR." We of the Reporter are proud to have been a working organization during this period in Stetson's history—prouder still of the fact that we had the opportunity to tell you of each vital event. Throughout the year, we emphasized a high calibre of journalism and earnestly tried to carry out our standards.

To the entire Reporter staff who so willingly gave their time and energy to "meet that deadline," goes my sincere thanks. To Bobbie Bronson and Rod Dugliss who "kept the presses rolling" part of the first semester, I extend my deep gratitude.

STUDENT HANDBOOK

JESSE LITTLE
Editor-in-Chief

Guiding frustrated Freshmen and Upper Classmen alike, the Student Handbook is an important part of Stetson's student publications.

This little book contains in compact and condensed form, all the information concerning Stetson rules, traditions, organizations.

Working diligently through the summer months on the Handbook for 1954-55 were editor Jesse Little, and art editor, Randy Ritter, whose final result is a noteworthy achievement.

Publications Committee

The Publications Board is the Student, faculty groups that governs, and controls the student publications, insuring an excellence of quality and providing a mediation and governing body for the publications.

Representing a cross section of interested faculty, students, and administration personnel, the Board is composed of the following members: l.-r.: Professor Hilda Wasson, Dr. Skinner, J. Blanford Taylor, Chairman; John Dixon, Burton Holmes, Dr. Fredrick T. C. Yu, and Rod Dugliss.

IT'S BEEN A BIG YEAR

Publications Grind On

Perhaps the best known, but least known about aspect, of this or any other compus is the "behind the scenes" phase of the student publications.

Everyone picks up his REPORTER every Friday, reads it, perhaps is provoked to comment, and then forgets about it for another week. During this week, however, the average student does not know the planning, writing, hours of hard work, and frustration that are going on in preparation for the next issue. The same is true of the yearbook. To most, it is a yearly occurrence that is big news for a few weeks late in the spring semester. The months of sleepless nights, and the many, many people who have contributed are easily overlooked in the rush to obtain a copy of the book that the "sweat and tears" has created.

While we study, work, or bask in the sun during the summer months, a few lonely souls swelter in the publication offices writing, editing, and publishing the student handbook, an indispensable item for the incoming freshman that fall.

WHILE MARY ANN COSLOW offers suggestions, Editor-in-Chief Burton Holmes pounds out additional copy.

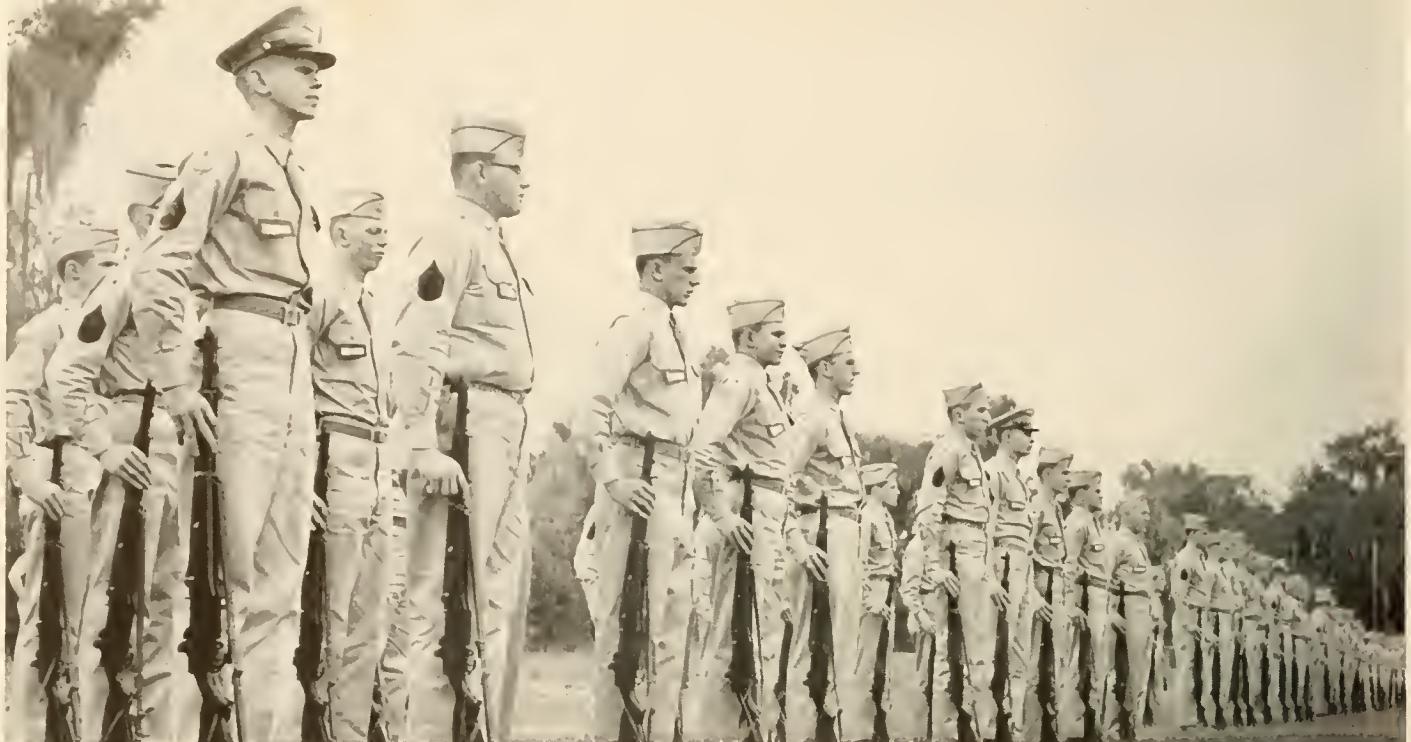

HATTER STAFF MEMBERS take a few minutes break between copy writing.

If someone was to look in on the publications office at any time of any day they would be sure to find someone working diligently to go to press with one of Stetson's student publications—an unheralded but rewarding job.

CHECKING GALLEY PROOFS in the print shop are Larry DeLozier, Claude Carter and John Dixon.

"BATTALION ON LINE"—The Stetson ROTC Corps stands at attention on line.

LEARNING TODAY, LEADING TOMORROW

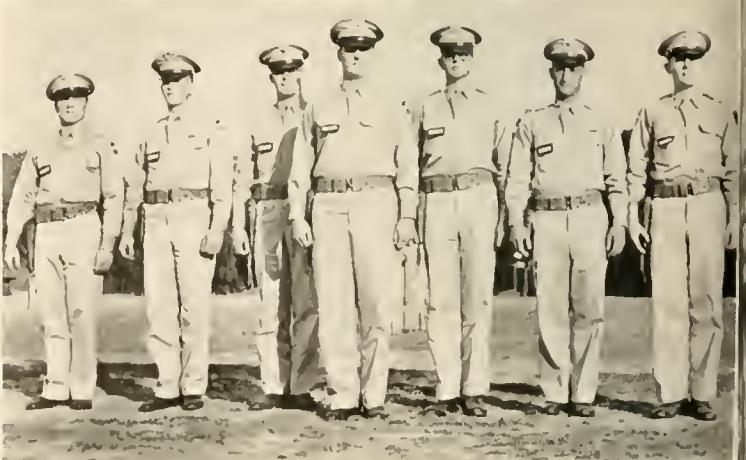

Cadets Train for Defense

The Stetson Reserve Officers' Training Corps prepares young men to become officers in one of the fifteen branches of the Army as a Military Police Unit in 1950. The Stetson ROTC Unit in 1952 was selected by the Department of the Army to institute a Branch General Program, which stressed general military subjects applicable to the Army as a whole, with the major emphasis on leadership.

After training in the various aspects of military life, stressing leadership, and officer potential in every individual, the ROTC Department graduates students as officers into the fifteen branches of the Army, thus augmenting the corps of men turned out by the Military academies and schools to lead our armed forces.

ROTC COLOR GUARD Members are l.-r.: Dave Howard, Vernon Johnson, Jim Bender, and Mike Orwin, who may be seen at all ROTC functions, parades, at football games, and many other facets of campus activity.

QUALITY OF MEN IMPROVED

R. O. T. C. Toughens Up!

In addition to the weekly drills and classroom activities, the ROTC Department has held special drills, and retreats for visiting officers, and civilian personages, for the awarding of medals and citations as representatives of the Department of the Army in this area, and has participated in parades sponsored by the school and the city of DeLand. Also in cooperation with the townspeople and their organizations the ROTC Department participated in other military and ceremonial events, such as the Armistice Day and Memorial Day ceremonies.

The ROTC Department has contributed to the social life of the campus by means of its annual Military Ball, held in the Spring of the year. The Department has also been available to aid in military funerals and other activities of a more personal matter.

In nearly all phases of Stetson life, some aspect of the ROTC Department may be found making integral contributions.

PARTICIPATING in the Homecoming parade is a marching unit from the Stetson ROTC Department.

TAKING ADVANTAGE of a training break at summer camp are Cadets John Hains, Dave Dickson, and Pierre Steward.

IN A BRIEFING SESSION before drill, Major Henry, with the aid of Sgt. Cobb, explains last minute details to the members of the senior division who will in turn instruct the cadets.

VARIOUS ASPECTS of military instruction and discipline are taught by Col. Farmer to a group of advanced students, who hope to apply their learning after graduation.

FEATURES

Students here represented have been selected as outstanding and worthy of honor and respect. Noted for superlative contributions to campus life, special talents, character, personality, or other important characteristics, including scholastic achievement, these students have been honored at various events throughout the year.

Who's Who includes the group of seniors chosen to represent Stetson in the annual edition of the nationally recognized book, "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Granted recognition not only here on campus, but all over the country as well, sixteen Stetson seniors attained this coveted title. Honor is surely due those who achieve this, the highest honor awarded Stetson men and women.

Seniors are also eligible for inclusion in the list of outstanding seniors. These students are selected as those most widely influential and well-known for their contribution to Stetson community life. They are outstanding for accomplishments in not one, but many fields of endeavor.

Beauty is something everyone appreciates, and Stetson has its share. HATTER beauties, winners of various campus contests, are represented here, proving that beauty and brains do mix, after all.

Judges Choose . . .

Mr. and Miss Stetson

Selected as this year's Mr. and Miss Stetson from a field of some 14 women and 5 men were Miss Marylin Layton, freshman from Jacksonville, Florida, and Mr. John Imgrund, junior from West Orange, New Jersey.

Named the reigning royalty for the Hatter Holiday, both Marylin and John, each sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity, received a trophy. Acting as judges were two outstanding business men of DeLand, and Mrs. Arthur Mitchell, wife of one of Stetson's trustees.

The winning couple was picked on a basis of appearance, charm and poise.

IN AMERICAN

This year 16 seniors were named by a faculty committee to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," for their contributions as students and campus leaders.

A college or University is allotted a certain number to be named to "Who's Who" in proportion to the size of the institution, and its academic and leadership potential. Stetson has been allotted the largest number, in proportion to the student body, of any college or university in the state. A signal honor.

One of the highest intercollegiate honors that is given to a student is to be named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Outstanding Seniors

These students named as Outstanding Seniors have been chosen by the Hatter staff on the recommendation of the student body, for their contribution to Stetson University toward furthering the aims and ideals of the University in their four years on campus. This honor is not merely a test of popularity, but a recognition of a college career well spent in the gaining of an education, and serving the school through activities and leadership in the attainment of the goals set forth by the founders and administrators of Stetson University.

Memories . . .

THE BIG DAY HAS COME AND GONE. And at last my four years at Stetson are completed, and here I stand with my diploma. Golly, what a long pull it represents. A lot of hard work and hours of study and not a few tears are back of this sheepskin. But you know, I can't help feeling just a little sad when I look back over my years spent here at Stetson. Many memories crowd into my mind—hazy recollections of my freshman year, the newness of college and its many activities . . .

Those lines at registration . . . Gosh, I thought I'd never get my schedule straightened out . . .

MY FIRST EXPERIENCE IN COLLEGE discipline came when I was called before the House Council. Was I ever scared! I imagined all sorts of horrible punishments, but being composed one Saturday night wasn't too bad. (Several in a row got to be monotonous, though!) One of the high points of fall semester was the Green Feather campaign. Several faculty members entered in by donning cheerleading outfits and leading the yells at the student-faculty basketball game. What a week . . . and best of all, we reached our goal! . . .

. . . HAPPY HOURS in the Slop Shop, grabbing a coke between classes or gulping down a hasty breakfast before my 8:00 in the Business School . . .

. . . AND REMEMBER WHEN WE HEARD ABOUT THE COMMONS BURNING! I couldn't believe it, even when I saw the wonderful new set-up in "Hully Cafeteria." The new student union will be the fulfillment of a dream, yet I'll always remember the old Commons . . .

ONE OF MY FIRST MEMORIES of college is of Freshman Talent Night . . .

. . . It was a welcome surprise after the trials of orientation to relax and enjoy the entertainment. But golly! I never realized what a talented class I belonged to!

. . . FALL JUST WOULDN'T BE FALL WITHOUT FOOTBALL. Somehow that sport never lost its thrill for me. Though we didn't always win, the excitement of the game, and the realization that this was part of college, was enough to furnish me with many pleasant incidents to reflect upon in later life . . .

. . . HOLLER FOUNTAIN WILL ALWAYS BE FOREMOST ON MY MEMORY LIST. I soon discovered there's more to esthetic appreciation than art and music offer, and the fountain was a major part of some of my study hours! . . .

. . . The G-courses really kept me hopping, too. I thought I was a well-educated high school graduate, but I sure found out differently when the General Education courses got hold of me . . .

... THERE'S AN ACADEMIC SIDE to Stetson, too, as can be seen by walking into the library almost any night, and especially the week before exams. Many of my memories are of the library, though. Looking back, even studying seemed to be a pleasure . . .

... OPENING NIGHT AT STOVER THEATRE, and all the atmosphere of a Broadway first-nighter! I never realized what talented dramatists Stetson produced, until I sat through a few of the plays at Stover Theatre . . .

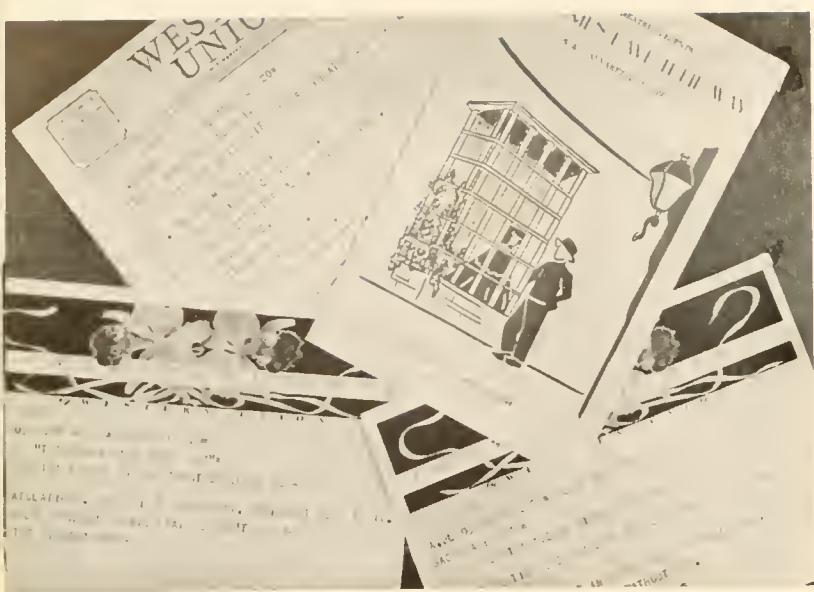

... AS I LOOK BACK on my four years here, some of the tenderest scenes I remember were in the front of Stetson Hall at closing time. The five-minute warning was the signal for a mass stampede, or so it seemed. This was one place where light and noise was unwelcome, but definitely . . .

... SOCIAL LIFE AT STETSON reaches its peak in the spring. Fraternity and sorority weekends kept the campus lively and the mood of spring was felt, especially in the dances and the treks to the beach. Ah, golden Daytona . . . well, a poet could say it better, but you know what I mean . . .

... Well, Graduation, the big day, has come and gone. But the memories will remain forever . . . and forever.

FINE ARTS

Stover Theatre, always a busy place, was filled again this year with students, make-up, props, lights, and nerves, which all combined somehow to produce a batch of terrific plays. The most noteworthy performance was that of "Open Season," an original play written by Dr. Brockett of the Stetson faculty, which, produced for the first time at Stover Theatre this fall, presented the conflict between the teaching of Christianity and the demands of modern Nations at war.

Guest artists played an even more prominent part in this year's activities on campus than they did last year, as the visiting artists not only gave night performances, but also appeared on the Friday chapel program. This informal performance was followed by the visitor's meeting with interested students to discuss informally any and all aspects of his or her career.

WJBS, Stetson's own radio station, gave speech and radio majors an opportunity to overcome their "Mike-fright" through actually trying their abilities on the air. Students not only handled much of the technical side of the station's operation, but several held regular jobs broadcasting games, describing events, serving as disc jockies, and making recordings of commercials for local businesses.

Painting, a fascinating pastime, has become a dominating factor in the fun side of many student's lives. Under expert guidance, they have turned out many marvelous works which bring looks of envy and bewilderment to the onlooker.

CURTAIN TIME IS NEAR, and backstage everyone is working at fever pitch to get ready. The cast and crew heads work before the glaring lights to add the final touch before the show.

WIDE VARIETY OF PLAYS EVOKE ENTHUSIASTIC RESPONSE

Learning to smear greasepaint isn't as simple as it might seem. Behind the polished performances given by the talented Stover Theatre group are many weary nights of rehearsals. Costumes, make-up, directing, and plain hard work, mixed with liberal portions of worry, all go into turning out "another successful performance."

Believing that extensive rehearsals are the foundation for smooth productions, the lights burn late at Stover Theatre as cast and stage crew work late into the night. The production becomes both a goal and a driving force; all else becomes secondary.

LAST MINUTE ADJUSTMENTS to the lighting are vitally important to the theatre productions, and Dr. O. G. Brockett is ever the perfectionist as the play nears production night.

Popularity

THE STOVER THEATRE'S OPENING PLAY was the Spanish comedy "The Women Have Their Way." Dodi Costine (l), confides to Al Meyer (c) as Lucinda Janis (r) tries to listen in on the secrets of husband catching.

HELEN LEE RADLOFF (L) AND DONNA CAROLL (R) have quite a heated discussion in the January production of St. John Ervine's comedy, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary."

JUST A LITTLE BIT MORE NANCY, and you'll have enough to put on your make-up base; a seemingly delicate operation for Nancy Lafgren in her first Stover production.

Artists Use

Stetson students in the art school have a wide variety of media to choose from in their pursuits of the various forms of artistic expression. Both the commercial as well as the fine arts and crafts are taught and encouraged by the members of the art school staff.

Emphasis is placed on learning the fundamentals of the particular medium, followed by further development of the students' individual style and techniques.

Probably the most popular medium is oils, and students utilize every extreme from classical studies to modern abstraction.

Others use the graphic arts of pencil, watercolor, and charcoal while some experiment with the mobiles, stabiles, sculpture, and other "three dimensional" forms.

Stetson's Art program this year was varied and extensive. The Fine Arts committee, brought to the campus a series of performers and lecturers throughout the school year and a five week period in the Spring was devoted entirely to the Fine Arts.

Artists Arnold Blanche and Doris Lee, writers Charlie May Simons, and Ted Patrick, the dancer Elinor King, the University of Alabama String Quartet, and many others, in addition to the contribution that the Stetson Music, Drama, and Art organizations gave to the cultural life of Stetson University.

S P O R T S

Stetson does not maintain an athletic department for the purpose of an impressive season schedule, but for the betterment of those participating. Athletes must not only have sporting ability, but must also be capable students. No exceptions are made because of a sports record.

This year's teams may not have set conference records nor had a large and momentary splash in the state papers, but they have played well and hard, and have made a good showing for Stetson University wherever they have appeared. Sportsmanship and team play are the very words epitomizing the goals of Stetson's athletic program.

In the fall of the year all attention is focused on the gridiron, and everyone partakes, either as player or spectator, whether the game is in the Municipal stadium, on some other campus, or on the intramural gridiron.

The basketball, baseball, and tennis teams have all done their best and have made fine records for themselves and the University with great promise for the future teams.

Let us take a short tour through our athletic year here at Stetson and look back on the teams and their accomplishments in 1954-55.

A hair raising football game that sow the Hatters spot Davidson three touchdowns in the first half and then almost emerge victorious opened the 1954 football season. Behind 19-0 at the half, the Hatters came blazing back, scored twice and almost won in the closing seconds.

Fred Semanie and Frank Singletary opened the Stetson scoring in the second half after Singletary took the kickoff and bulled to midfield. A few plays later Semanie cut over his own left tackle for 35 yards and the score,

After a scoreless third period Stetson opened a wide open pass offense. Late in the final period Singletary possed to Gene Stephenson for the final T.D.

TROY STATE

Finding the right combination the Hatters pushed past a game and fighting Troy State eleven 18-14. Stetson's outstanding second half defense, which stopped the Red Wave inside the five yard line twice, often brought the crowd to its feet as the vaulted Troy Staters were checked solidly. Forcing over three scores in rapid succession, the Hatters overcome a 14-0 halftime deficit. Moving the ball with determination, the Green and White backed on electrifying 55-yard touchdown run by Gene Stephenson with two drives of 35 and 65 yards.

SOUTHEASTERN LOUISIANA

A fighting Hatter team lost to one of the best small college teams in the country 62-0, but not before they put up a fine first half battle that saw them behind only 13 points. The many guns of the heavier and more experienced Lions proved that courage was not enough for Stetson to win.

TAMPA

Stetson's Hatters ran head on into a red-hot Tampa eleven which could do no wrong and lost to the downstaters 64-9. Before 8,000 shocked and amazed fans in the cigar city the Spartans avenged last years' upset at the hands of the Hatters.

The Spartan offense hit high gear and behind superb blocking the Tampa backs scampered for long gains.

Stetson pushed over a touchdown from one yard out with Sonny Parker carrying. The game, rough from start to finish, was noted by the eviction of three players.

PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE

Stetson again proved the statistical equal of the opposition only to come out on the wrong end of a 28-7 score against Presbyterian College. The inevitable breaks that come and go in every ball game were the difference in the two teams as the Hatters showed themselves to be a solid team. Any offense the Green and White could start was stopped by penalties. Only when trailing four touchdowns could Stetson move the ball consistently enough to score against the big Presbyterian line.

GETTING READY for next Fall, Coach McQuillan puts his boys through vigorous Spring training exercises.

WOFFORD

Wofford darkened the Stetson Homecoming by the round score of 41-0. Held to one touchdown in the first half the Terriers roared back with a bruising attack, which the Hatters could not stop.

At the half things looked fine for the Hatters; they had held well and scored once on an 83 yard pass play only to have it called back, because of an offside penalty. But in the final analysis the devastating running and the pinpoint passing of the men from Spartanburg made a shambles of the Hatter defense. Unable to muster a sustained scoring drive the Hatters had little offence to point to. For the first time in Stetson's history there was a card section at this game. It was exceedingly well done.

HERB McQUILLAN AND JOE BERRY OBSERVE the action of the Hatters as they play during the Homecoming game.

COACH McQUILLAN and the members of the team follow closely a play in the last half of the Homecoming football fray, as the Hatters attempt to stay in the game.

IT'S A TOUCHDOWN! as the opponents score again.

EAST CAROLINA

East Carolina ground out a well earned 26-7 victory over the Hatters in Greenville, S. C. A crushing running attack coupled with adequate passing kept the Hats off balance as the Pirates pushed out in front 13-0 at the half. Following the final East Carolina touchdown, the Hatters mounted their only show of offensive strength of the game—a stirring 61 yard drive that was marked by the passing of freshman quarterback Dick Saltrick and the dependable running of halfback Gene Stephenson.

FSU GAME

FSU rolled over the Hatters in a swashing second half ground attack that saw the Seminoles really drive for the Tangerine Bowl bid. Never easing up, the men from Tallahassee sent 11 different men over the goal line in the 47-6 victory.

The big Seminoles scored after six minutes had elapsed and from then on pushed the score gradually higher over the hotly protesting Hatters. A mixture of passing, blocking and running accounted for the size of the score.

Led by a trio of all-state guards, and a massive center, the Hi-Hatters offered formidable resistance to the teams on their schedule, although the team was young in experience and years.

To all the team members, to the members of the junior varsity who had to give up their schedule because of the lack of space in the gym following its conversion to a campus cafeteria, to the fine work of coaches Dick Morland and Bill Layer, the trainers, managers, and all concerned go the praise and congratulations of the student body with commendation for a job well done.

Hi-Hatters Win Majority

The 1955 team was made up of a majority of freshmen, with other underclassmen rounding out the squad, and only one senior, Captain Ted Cassidy. With Big Ted, the only one to graduate, this year's squad, which made an impressive showing, has great promise for future championship teams.

Finishing the season with a 11-9 record, a season that the Hi Hatters upset the top rated small college team, Presbyterian, and finished third in the Florida Intercollegiate League, the cage team played impressive basketball and showed surprising strength against such teams as state champs, FSU, Rollins, Miami, and various professional and semi-pro teams included on an exhibition schedule.

With such men as Cassidy, Dave Howard, Rich Layer, Bobby Crompton, Buz Reynolds and Keith King leading the way, the floor play was exciting and the team records impressive.

With the crack of horsehide on ash wood, the Stetson baseball squad not only battles a rough season with their opponents, but must compete with the bulldozers and workmen who are erecting the new dorm on Hulley field.

Hompered by a rather slow start in practice, the Hatter diamond squad is looking forward to a fine season which will match them with some very large and very good teams.

With a schedule that includes schools as close as Rollins and Southern and as far away as Ohio State and Amherst, coach Corl H. "Doc" Johnson has been working with a team, not as well bolstered with returning lettermen as he would like, but showing promise of a winning baseball squad.

With a strong pitching department coming along, the infield work will be stressed with the emphasis on teamwork, as Stetson rolls through another baseball season.

CHARLIE THOMPSON for the Lambda Chi's smashes a possible home run down third base line in an exciting intra-mural game.

Stetson's intramural program was a great success this past season with exciting contests, high degree of sportsmanship and active participation by the men's and women's social and independent organizations.

With the intramural football competition sometimes outdrawing the Hotter varsity crowd, the teams finished in a three way tie between Sigma Nu, Pi Kappa Phi, and Delta Sigma Phi. The Pi Kaps beat the Delta Sigs, and played the Sigma Nu's in a never to be forgotten playoff game which showed the Sigma Nus on top 12-6 as the dust cleared at the end of the fray. The top stars of the season met the champion Sigma Nu's in the All Star game, another thriller, and defeated the "Snakes" 7-0.

WITH BASES LOADED and two outs this pitch is a vital one during this intra-mural game.

M U R A L S

All the other sports drew fine competitive teams, and the spirit ran high throughout the entire season. Many people turned out to watch the two basketball leagues battle to the finish of their season, with the softball, volleyball, and tennis matches to follow fast on their heels.

The women were not idle in their sports activities either. Playing in the less strenuous sports, they kept up a lively competition throughout the season.

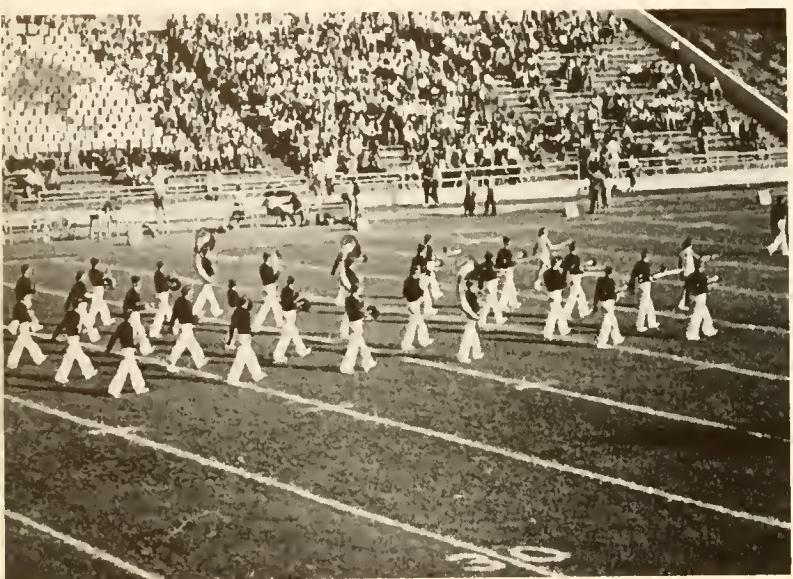

There was a little rough and tumble play when the Alpha Xi Deltas challenged the Zeta Tau Alphas to a "Powder Puff" football game complete with male cheerleaders and a band. The Zetas won 6-0.

DURING AN INTRAMURAL SEASON that rivaled that of the varsity team in interest and spirit, such scenes as this were common as the fraternity, independent and Ministerial teams battled through their schedules.

ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations for every purpose and every person are present on campus. The focus varies from scholarship to fun, from education to entertainment; and for that reason, students frequently find themselves in several groups at once.

Honoraries have been formed to acknowledge those who are worthy, those who rise above the crowd for several reasons. Heading the list is Omicron Delta Kappa for men and The Honor for women, as their members are chosen for leadership and service as well as scholarship.

Exceptional work and ability in fields such as chemistry, history, art or drama, are recognized through honoraries in individual departments and subjects. Religious groups on campus are representative of every major denomination, and their work is coordinated through the Student Christian Association, an inter-denominational body in charge of college wide programs such as vespers, and Religious Emphasis Week.

Professional information and skills are presented to those interested in obtaining them through the various professional clubs such as the Future Teacher's of America, and the Accounting Club.

Social fraternities and sororities are also much in evidence. They not only sponsor many social events, but also foster the intra-mural sports programs and try to make the student's life well-rounded by encouraging participation in all the various campus activities and providing the student with excellent training for his future life in society.

Its purpose is to recognize outstanding leadership ability in the male students of the Junior and Senior classes. These students are selected by a point valuation system based on the number of semesters a man has attended school, in comparison to the qualities mentioned above.

ODK places itself above the realm of a mere leadership fraternity, by nominating two women for ODK sponsors at Homecoming, and by their leadership banquet held in the spring of each year.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

ALPHA CHI CHAPTER

In 1925 Delta Sigma Phi, founded in 1899 in City College of New York, saw the addition of Alpha Chi Chapter to Stetson's campus. The national organization has since grown to include 78 chapters.

The annual Sailor's ball is the major social achievement of the Delta Sigs, but fraternity parties during the year keep their spirit lively. Active intramural participation is another interest of the group. During Homecoming, the Delta Sigs won third place in house decorations and tied for third place in floats with the Pi Phis.

The Delta Sigs were not lacking for individual honors, either. Gene Stephenson and Art Park are football notables: Bill Kaleel, a mainstay of the gold team. Louis Jacobs wielded the gavel for Canterbury Club each Sunday night. Stan Marks, outstanding in athletics and former "S" club president, added to his list of achievements by obtaining membership in "Who's Who."

Delta Sigs may spotlight such alumni as John Scott Trotter, Ted Weems, Jan Garber, and locally, J. Ollie Edmunds and Dr. A. M. Winchester can also claim the white carnation as their "Fraternal Flower."

ZETA TAU ZETA

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity members captured the coveted IRC Sing title with their novel adaptation of "There's Nothing Like a Dame," making this their second win in that competition. Another cup was added to the mantel with the winning of second place in the Homecoming Parade with a unique depiction of "Rackets Roar in '54."

Combining group prowess with individual talent, the Lambda Chi's are proud to claim as brothers Student Government President Joe McClain; Editor-in-Chief of the 1955 Hatter, Burton Holmes; and Secretary of the Inter-Fraternity Council, Joe Huckleberry. Joe McClain is also President of the Adelphos Society, and is an outstanding senior listed in Who's Who.

Adding to the social life of the campus, the Lambda Chi's gave a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and their annual Coronation Ball, as well as numerous open houses.

Originating at Boston University on November 2, 1909, Lambda Chi Alpha has rapidly grown to become the largest college social fraternity in the world, with 150 chapters scattered throughout this country and Canada. The local chapter became affiliated with international on April 23, 1949. National figures who hold the white rose as their fraternity flower are Harry S. Truman, General Doolittle, Chester Gould (Creator of Dick Tracy) and Frankie Lane.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

DELTA UPSILON CHAPTER

On March 1, 1954, Pi Kappa Alpha, founded in 1868 at the University of Virginia, welcomed the Delta Upsilon chapter into the national organization.

The founders, who chose the Lily of the Valley as their flower, also established the goal of the fraternity, that of trying to promote high ideals of American manhood in its members.

The Pikes "go native" in the spring with their "Bahama Weekend." Clad in tropical clothing, they assume all the festivities of a real vacation in the Caribbean. The Dream Girl of PiKA is selected during the big dance Saturday night.

Another group tradition is the annual Founders' Day Banquet, held each year on March 6.

First place in the Homecoming lawn decorations added to the list of honors accumulated by the Pikes. Local members of PiKA and campus fame include Chuck Franson, John Morgan, Frank Slaughter, Dick Meredith, and Jim Bender. Chuck holds the offices of IFC President and Vice-President of the Liberal Arts school. John is Secretary of the Men's Council, and Frank was Homecoming Chairman. Stetson's sports world was enriched by Dick, Outstanding Intramural Athlete, and Jim, Sports Editor of the 1955 HATTER.

PI KAPPA PHI

CHI CHAPTER

Pi Kappa Phi, which was organized at Stetson February 13, 1921, was founded at the University of Charleston, Charleston, S. C. in 1904. Their motto "Nothing shall tear us asunder," is the symbol of unity for the 46 national chapters.

The Pi Kaps here at Stetson are recognized for their social efforts which culminate in the annual "Parade of Orchids"; their athletic abilities which enabled them to place as runners-up in the intramural football contests; and their ever famous "mud-hole" when the pledges have an opportunity to dunk the actives. Also noteworthy is their record in the Inter-Fraternity sing, which they have won for many years in succession.

John Howell, John Dixon, Roger Ericson, and Buddy Simpson are only a few of the Pi Kap contributions to campus life. John Howell is Men's Council President, Homecoming Mayor, State BSU President, Religious Focus Week Chairman, and to crown his achievements, a member of "Who's Who." John Dixon served as Editor-in-Chief of the Stetson REPORTER for 1954-55, while Roger Ericson served as Business Manager of the REPORTER and President of Sigma Pi Kappa, and is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa.

SIGMA NU

DELTA MU CHAPTER

In 1913 a group, which had been founded locally in 1909, joined the ranks of Sigma Nu Fraternity, which was founded in 1869 at the Virginia Military Institute by three Cadets. National notables who follow the White Star include Kay Kaiser, Glenn Miller, Fulton Lewis, Jr., Herman Talmadge, and Senator George Smathers.

Sports are definitely the forte of the Delta Mu chapter, as they copped the All-Sports Trophy for 1953-54, and won the Intramural Football and Golf trophies in 1954. But their participation in other campus activities is noteworthy, too. The White Star Formal is a traditional spring event, and numerous parties and dances during the year combined to make their social life complete.

Bill Garrett is Sigma Nu's contribution to football at Stetson, as is Bobby Crumpton to basketball. Morris Foster spread Stetson's fame by journeying to American University in Washington, D. C. on the Washington Semester Plan. Sigma Nu points with pride to George Singeltary, SGA Treasurer, and Zeke Sherman, SCA prexy, both owners of "Who's Who" certificates.

FLORIDA BETA CHAPTER

Florida Beta united with 131 other Sig Ep chapters on February 12, 1949, and thus became a part of the national organization which was founded by twelve students at Richmond College, Richmond, Virginia on November 1, 1901.

Ben Hibbs, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and late Governor Dan McCarty, are only two of the famous men who acknowledge the violets and American beauty rose as their fraternity flower.

The Queen of Hearts Ball is the highlight of the Sig Ep's social season. Held on Feb. 12, the fraternity selected Neva Stahley as 1955's reigning Queen of Hearts. Fraternity parties, stag and otherwise, supplemented the social calendar. On the intramural side, the Sig Ep's copped the '54 horseshoe trophy. And they can claim Butch Willard, Business Manager of the 1955 HATTER as their own. Butch was also chosen as a member of "Who's Who."

OMEGA CHAPTER

The group of women at Lombard College in Galesburg, Illinois, who founded Alpha Xi Delta on April 17, 1893, chose the Killarney rose as the fraternity flower, and double blue and gold as their colors. An alum whose work, if not her name, is known to all Americans, is Katherine Chase Goodrich, author of "Uncle Walt and Skeezeix," "Painted Desam," and "The Romance of Helen Trent." Another alumni notable is Edith Atkinson, past president of Phi Delta Delta, legal fraternity.

Second place in Homecoming skit competition and Hatter Holiday championships went to the Alpha Xi's. They are also rich in leadership ability. B. J. Henderson is State F.T.A. President, and was also 1955 Homecoming Hostess; Sue Reynolds reigns as Cheerleading Captain and SGA Secretary; Jane Summers presides over meetings of The Honor; and Shirley Lowe is SGA veep and President of the Music School. DELTA DELTA DELTA

ALPHA DELTA CHAPTER

Delta Delta Delta, founded on Thanksgiving Eve of 1888 at Boston University, is organized to establish a perpetual bond of friendship among its members and to help develop a more womanly character in its members. The same founding group also chose the stars and crescent as the emblem, and the motto since made sacred to Tri-Delts all over the world: "Let us steadfastly love one another."

Alpha Delta, the local chapter went national in 1913. It has established the tradition of giving a scholarship to a worthy girl each year.

Homecoming found the Tri-Delts in with third place in the "Hatter Howler" skits. They are proud of Helen Lee Radloff, their contribution to Stover Theatre and also to "Who's Who." Caroline McInnis, State Westminster Foundation President, and Barbara Rohn, PEM President, are two more who rank high on their list of notables. Mary Ann Coslow and Candy Hunter are mainstays of the yearbook staff. Peggy Livingston was selected as "Outstanding Freshman Girl," thus keeping the award in the chapter for the second straight year.

The Crescent Ball, an annual event of the sorority, was given in March. The theme of this dance centered around the crowning of the Tri-Delt Crescent King, the boy who has most helped the sorority in its various activities.

PHI MU

ALPHA XI CHAPTER

In March, 1949, the Alpha Xi Chapter joined the ranks of Phi Mu which have grown to include 69 chapters. The Phi Mu fraternity was founded in March of 1852 in Macon, Georgia. Organized to follow a purpose which is social, spiritual, and fraternal, the Phi Mu's chose the enchantress carnation as their flower, and state their motto as "Les Soeurs Fideles."

First place in the Homecoming float competition went to the Phi Mu's, with this award starting them off on a year full of activities. Their charitable projects include a Christmas party for needy children, their social activities were climaxed by their Plantation Ball early in February.

"Who's Who" selected Helen Harper as a nominee on its list. Joan Hodges is a sparkling addition to the half-time shows in football season. Marlene Lockman works on the Hatter and Reporter staffs. Ninette Gauthier represents Phi Mu in both the Women's Student Government and in beauty contests.

RUSH WEEK found the Pi Phi's busily entertaining, and enjoying themselves in the process.

ONE OF THE MOST IMPRESSIVE MOMENTS of the Pi Phi formal rush party comes with the presentation of a realistic wedding.

PI BETA PHI

FLORIDA ALPHA CHAPTER

Pi Beta Phi was first established as a national sorority in 1867, founded by a group of women at Monmouth College in Monmouth, Illinois. The Florida Alpha Chapter was the first Greek social group to make its appearance on Stetson's campus, organizing in May of 1913. Among Pi Phi's outstanding national figures are Margaret Truman, Jane Wyman, and Patricia Neal.

Choosing the wine carnation as their flower, the founders picked the arrow as their sorority emblem. Here at Stetson, the girls who wear the arrow are proud of their group achievements. Pi Phi combines brains with talent, as the scholarship records show them to be first on the list for 1954-55, and the Interfraternity Sing title has been kept in the Pi Phi sisterhood for the past five years.

Beauty is another asset of the sorority. Marilyn Layton captured the Miss Stetson title for top beauty honors; Joyce McDonald and Veda Hensley took first and third in the Hatter-Reporter beauty contest, and went on to represent Stetson in the Tangerine and Orange Bowl respectively. June Barry heads the majorette corps in the football half-time shows, and Louise Powell keeps the campus news circulating in her weekly Reporter column, "Hatter Chatter."

ZETA TAU ALPHA

BETA PSI CHAPTER

Beta Psi chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha was founded in 1934 on Stetson's campus. The first national chapter was organized in Virginia in 1898. Since that date, the girls who wear the Zeta shield have increased their number of chapters to 105.

The Zetas along with the Alpha Xi's established a new tradition this year, the first Powder-Puff football game. Their campus accomplishments include third place awards in both the Inter-Fraternity Sing and Hatter Holiday.

Their top achievement in the social circles came in the form of the "Mardi Gras," the theme of their weekend. During the dance, the Mardi Gras King and Queen were selected, the girl and boy who have most helped the sorority.

Roz Fordham is the answer for almost all sorority needs. Besides serving as ZTA president for 1954-55, she was also president of the Stetson House Council, Sig Ep Queen of Hearts, and a "Who's Who" member. Louise Jeffries held the important office of Pan-Hellenic President, as well as being the sorority's beauty representative for the HATTER-REPORTER Beauty Contest.

Outstanding alums who claim the white violet as their Zeta flower include Faith Baldwin, novelist, and Dean Etter Turner of Stetson fame.

S C H O O L S

The organization of students into schools and classes is a vital part of the university routine. Along with its administrative values, this type of organization gives the students experience in group unity, as shown by the annual elections, when the campaigning and spirit is especially high. From the first day of orientation, freshmen feel the unity of their class, through group activities such as Freshman Talent Night, and through the various testing programs and projects that are so much a part of the new year.

The Business and Music Schools, though they each deal with a more specialized phase of academic curriculum, work together with the Liberal Arts School in its program of broadening the student's experiences in education by providing opportunities, both social and academic whereby the student may better prepare himself for living in the world.

Faculty members serve not only as professors, but as counselors and friends. Their wider knowledge and experiences in their particular field enables them to instruct the student in various academic problems and thus a well-balanced and successful guidance program is maintained.

WILLIAM H. McENIRY,

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

A relatively new portion of the University curriculum is the school of Business Administration. Training and preparing students in a widely expanding and increasingly technical field, that of managing and performing the tasks of modern America's complex business world, is a great challenge met by the able faculty and administration of the business school, who plan the academic and practical training of the students so as to encourage clear and full understanding of the problems of the world today.

IGNORING THE CONSTANT clicking of other typewriters, each student tries diligently to type his own lesson.

AMBLING STUDENTS, last minute cramming, and business meetings all combine to make the Business Building one of the most used on campus.

MAKING FIGURES BALANCE will consume multitudes of scrap paper, pencil erasers, and ink as these students discover while solving their laboratory problems.

Law School

New Campus for Old School

LAW SCHOOL MOVES TO ST. PETERSBURG

The largest and newest segment of the Stetson campus is the addition this past year of the campus of the College of Law at St. Petersburg.

One of the new law students at St. Petersburg described the campus as being, "beautifully designed representations of Spanish architecture, complete with a replica of the famous Golden Tower of Seville. The building was built as a hotel, you know, and the surroundings are luxurious—not at all like the hustle and bustle on the undergraduate campus in DeLand. There's an air of fine living here that is a good atmosphere for embryonic attorneys.

The Inn system of legal education provides the perfect setting for student lawyers. The study of the law is a twenty-four hour a day process, and the opportunity to eat with the professors or have bull sessions with them in the Snack Bar is much appreciated. The method of the Inns was that used in England and which produced some of the best legal minds of the Anglo-Saxon world. The students realize the possibility of this program and are proud to be a part of it.

ONE OF THREE wishing wells in the Plaza Major.

The activities here are less than on the DeLand campus. There are monthly business or social meetings of the Student Bar Association. An essential part of the Inn system and the program of the Student Bar Association are the addresses by practicing attorneys, judges or educators."

This unique arrangement has earned the title of America's most unusual Law school for this part of the Stetson campus.

Heading the Law School for its first year in this new environment has been Dean Charles Hilkey whose wealth of background in the field of Law Education has stabilized the curriculum and gotten the Stetson College of Law at St. Petersburg off to a fine start.

The Honor Court performs the administrative duties of the Honor System which accepts each student as a person of honesty and thoughtfulness. After enrollment all students are bound by the provisions of the Honor Code. Each student signs a pledge that he has neither given or received aid in his examinations and thus exams are able to be conducted without surveillance. This enables the student to individually maintain the high standard of ethics and character demanded of the legal profession. The Honor Court, composed of a chief justice and six associate justices who are elected, two from each lower class, serves as a court for the trial of infractions and the recommendation of punishment in cases of guilt. A jury is drawn from the membership of Student Bar Association with the students acting as prosecuting and defense attorneys.

ADVERTISING

This is the section for those people, often unrecognized, who do a great deal for the University. These are the townspeople—the tradesmen with whom the students deal. These people, who exist in that relatively unknown world of DeLand are those who by their support, moral and financial, aid the campus organizations, publications, and administration.

The students at Stetson know and deal with these people in many ways. These advertisers whose names appear in the student publications, do not expect that the students will march en masse to their establishments to buy them out; they only deservedly want the nominal recognition due an advertiser . . . students to drop in, to purchase or just to look around and mention that they have seen the store's ad in the HATTER, or REPORTER, or the football program and are glad to see the company supporting the school.

These are the people who pay for the major part of the REPORTER and HATTER and numerous other student projects.

They have given their support to Stetson; we should extend them the same courtesy and support them to the best of our ability.

The City of DeLand and the DeLand Chamber of Commerce are proud of Stetson University's established record for training men and women for the business of living. Proud, too, they are of the recognition brought to DeLand by the many individual students, student groups and alumni who are constantly presenting some phase of Stetson University — and consequently DeLand — to the Nation.

DeLand and Stetson University together have more to offer winter visitors and new residents than 'most any other section of the State. If you are interested in DeLand as a vacation spot or a place of permanent residence, write
